

Spring Scavenger Hunt!

Audrey Ferrara

I live in the Laurelhurst neighborhood in SE Portland. I live in an apartment, so as the weather changes I don't have a backyard or garden to go to. But I live in a very beautiful place and I get to walk to Laurelhurst Park, I really appreciate that park! It is really a beautiful and special place.

Laurelhurst has many varieties of plants, animals, and fungi! As each season changes it is a great place to study the Earth!

Here are some pictures from my adventure!

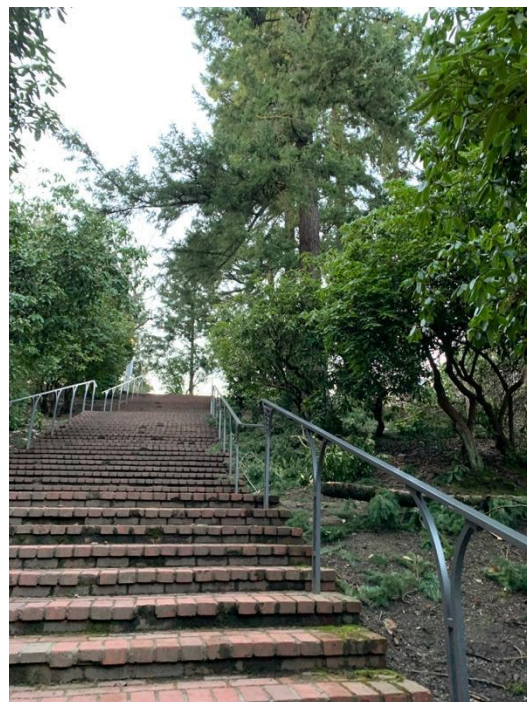

This is a Cherry tree, it smelled SO good! Spring is amazing!

This is a tulip tree! It hasn't started blooming yet. But as the season keeps changing the tree will change too!

Here is a pond at Laurelhurst! It is an ecosystem for many creatures and plants. Like Ducks, duckweed, algae, and bugs! And these are the incredible stairs! They are beautiful in every season!

Evidence of spring on the Laurelhurst trails! Pink is one of my favorite colors ☺

This is the Bitar mansion. It is on one side of the opening of Laurelhurst park

Here are some more pictures of the neighborhood! One the right is the Laurelhurst Church, it's on the route back to my apartment.

This is my dog, Maggie's favorite part of the walk to Laurelhurst. A neighbor puts out little dog treats and water for all the puppies in the neighborhood! A nice and Covid safe way to be a neighbor!
